1. First of all I would like to thank you and other members of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the timely and professional products and services provided over the years to DIA's Special Office for Prisoners of War and Missing in Action (VO-PW). 1. (U) The Special Office for Prisoners of War and Missing in Action is responsible for evaluating information concerning American servicemen and civilians who are unaccounted for in Southeast Asia.

2. [REDACTED] Since March 1979, DIA/YO-PW has received over 2,000 reports, originating from Southeast Asia (SEA), reporting the purported recovery of remains and/or identification media of American servicemen. Eighty-three percent of the servicemen named in these reports returned from SEA alive; eleven percent were deceased; however, their remains were returned to the U.S. for burial; and only six percent remain unaccounted for. The scope and continuing escalation of such reporting suggests that there is some Socialist Republic of Vietnam (SRV) Ministry of Interior (Intelligence Service) involvement in the dog tag reporting. In most instances the reports originate with an unidentified person who persuades an acquaintance in the SRV to act as an intermediary to transmit information to a relative or an acquaintance residing in another country. Usually, the information is introduced in such a way that it appears to be authentic. In this manner, many honest people may have been induced into acting as unwitting transmitters of information that they believe to be true. A brief synopsis of the Department of Defense "dog tag" reports is enclosed for your information (enclosure 1).

3. (U) Recently, a DIA collector in Thailand received from a Vietnamese refugee a "dog tag" report on a sheet of paper that appears to be a copy of the official stationery of a Member of Congress (enclosure 2).

4. (U) Request a laboratory analysis of the document at enclosure 2 to determine:

DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20340

"DOG TAG" REPORTS

In recent years one particular type of report has been received most frequently by the Defense Intelligence Agency's Special Office for PW/MIAs-- which has responsibility for collection and analysis of information pertaining to unaccounted for Americans from the Vietnam conflict. These reports are referred to as "dog tag" reports, the first two of which were received in 1979. By the end of February 1988, over 2400 such reports had been received, and they continue to arrive at a similar rate monthly.

In each dog tag report, a person or persons--many of them still residents of Southeast Asia--claim to possess the remains of one or more Americans. As proof they offer information copied from U.S. military identification tags ("dog tags"), tracings of dog tags, photographs of dog tags, actual dog tags, or other identification documents. More than 1400 U.S. military personnel have been named in these reports. Of these, eighty-four percent served in Southeast Asia and returned to the United States alive. An additional ten percent were killed in Southeast Asia, but their remains were recovered, identified, and returned to the United States for burial. Thus, it is impossible that the remains of these men are in the possession of the persons claiming to have them. About six percent of the dog tag reports name a man who is unaccounted for, suggesting that someone has recovered the remains or personal effects of these servicemen from battlefield or crash sites. However, several factors make it unlikely that these items were recovered by private citizens.

One of these factors is the duplication of claims involving a single missing servicemember. In most cases several different people claim to have the remains and/or personal effects of each of the named servicemen. Frequently each source claims to have recovered the same items on a different date or at a different location. These inconsistencies indicate that the people did not obtain their information by recovering items from battlefield or crash sites. For instance, two of the servicemen, whose remains and dog tags several persons claim to have found, are in fact former POWs who returned alive and whose dog tags were taken from them by their captors.

Another factor is the identification of remains practice advocated by communist forces. Throughout the war they enforced a policy to find and bury Americans killed in action and to send to central authorities a report of the burial location and the personal effects and identification taken from the body. Captured documents continually stressed that this effort was important to the "political struggle." In instances where this was done, the Governments of Vietnam and Laos should have knowledge of many of the missing men whose names have appeared in the dog tag reports.

copy/H
OK

There are several tragic aspects to many of these dog tag reports. Most of the persons reporting this information ask for assistance in resettling to the United States because they have been led to believe that if they possess the remains of American servicemen, they and their families will be resettled. In some cases sources indicated that they have paid for this information. To discourage this type of activity and exploitation, the U.S. Government provides no rewards or assistance for information on unaccounted for Americans.

In conclusion, the known policy and practices of the Indochinese Governments to collect information concerning U.S. war dead, coupled with the patterns in the dog tag reporting, lead to the belief that the majority of reports reflect information and personal effects recovered by Vietnamese forces, not private citizens. Further, it would appear that these dog tag reports are managed by elements within the Socialist Republic of Vietnam in an effort to influence or exploit the PW/MIA issue.

Nevertheless, each report is carefully analyzed to determine its validity.

REPORTED SIGHTING OF US POW-MIA'S

[REDACTED] SD T-1 reported that he had come across information on the sighting of two graves located in Vietnam of U.S. military personnel.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] in Thuan Hai province, South Vietnam

[REDACTED] as being along Highway 9 or 11 and was a communist secret zone. [REDACTED] said that many Americans and Koreans were killed in this area in 1972. In 1978, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] he came across the remains of a U.S. helicopter. Near the helicopter were two graves. [REDACTED] talked to the local residents, called mountagnan people, who stated that the graves belonged to two U.S. soldiers. [REDACTED] believes this information had never been reported before and was known only to the locals. [REDACTED] reported that another U.S. helicopter was spotted by him near this area but on the opposite side of the road leading to the local village. The area was described as heavy forest that [REDACTED] could not get through. Only remains of the helicopter were spotted. [REDACTED] believes that the helicopter with the two graves crashed around 1969-1970. He was unaware if either helicopter had any numbers on the side of them.

[REDACTED] drew a map of the area where the graves are located. The map showed a highway, presumably highway 9 or 11 going from Thuan Hai province to Don Duong. Midway on the highway, a road intersected from presumably the east traveling a distance of 10 km. through the Song Ong river, then the Song Cai river where reeducation camps were located, then to some abandoned rice fields and the communist secret zone. The graves are located north of this roadway in a hilly or mountain area and just east of the Song Cai river before reaching the abandoned rice fields.

[REDACTED] was again interviewed [REDACTED]. He was shown an operations navigation chart labeled ONC K-10 produced by the Defense Mapping Agency. [REDACTED] pinpointed the area of the helicopter and two graves. The area is located at 11 degrees 50 minutes north, 108 degrees 45 minutes east. [REDACTED] indicated that he could provide further information with a more detailed map. The map shown was scaled 1:1,000,000.

[REDACTED] IS AN ETHNIC VIETNAMESE NATURALIZED AMERICAN CITIZEN WHO RESIDES IN [REDACTED] DURING THE LATE 1970S AND EARLY 1980S [REDACTED] INTRODUCED SEVERAL SOUTHEAST ASIAN PERSONS TO DIA, MEMBERS OF CONGRESS, JOURNALISTS, AND PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS. SHE PROMOTED SEVERAL OF THESE PERSONS AS RELIABLE SOURCES OF IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT UNACCOUNTED-FOR AMERICANS. SHE PROMOTED HERSELF AS THE PROTECTOR OF THESE SOURCES. FROM THE BEGINNING SHE, AND SOME OF HER SOURCES, FREQUENTLY AND STRIDENTLY PROMOTED FALSE CHARGES THAT REPRESENTATIVES OF THE DIA, JCRC, AND OTHER ELEMENTS OF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT ROUTINELY ABUSED OR ENDANGERED SOUTHEAST ASIANS WHO ATTEMPTED TO REPORT PW/MIA-RELATED INFORMATION. MOST OF THE SOURCES BECAME FOCAL POINTS FOR FALSE ALLEGATIONS, AGGRESSIVELY PROMOTED BY [REDACTED] THAT THE USG WAS DISCOURAGING EFFORTS TO OBTAIN INFORMATION AND COVERING UP EVIDENCE CONCERNING UNACCOUNTED-FOR AMERICANS. DURING THE WAR, MANY OF THE SOURCES HAD CONFIRMED OR SUSPECTED LINKS TO HANOI AND

HANOI-DOMINATED FRONT ORGANIZATIONS. THROUGHOUT THE WAR, [REDACTED] HERSELF WAS VERY ACTIVE IN VIETNAM AND THE UNITED STATES AS A SPOKESPERSON AND ORGANIZER OF DISSENT AGAINST THE POLICIES AND ACTIONS OF THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE REPUBLIC OF VIETNAM AND THE UNITED STATES. [REDACTED] AND MANY OF THE SOURCES SHE INTRODUCED NOW PRESENT THEMSELVES AS PROPONENTS AND LEADERS OF ANTI-COMMUNIST MOVEMENTS IN THE SOUTHEAST ASIAN EMIGRE COMMUNITIES. WITHOUT EXCEPTION, THE ACCOUNTS ABOUT FIVE AMERICAN PWS IN POST-WAR SOUTHEAST ASIA RECEIVED FROM [REDACTED] SOURCES HAVE PROVED TO BE UNSUBSTANTIATED RUMOR OR FALSE. THEIR ACTIONS COMPELLED DIA, CONGRESS, AND OTHER ELEMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT TO EXPEND CONSIDERABLE RESOURCES TO PURSUE UNPRODUCTIVE LEADS AND RESPOND TO ALLEGATIONS OF WRONGDOING, THEIR ACTIONS CONTRIBUTED TO AN EROSION OF PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN USG EFFORTS TO ACCOUNT FOR AMERICANS WHO ARE STILL MISSING IN SOUTHEAST ASIA. REGARDLESS OF THEIR TRUE MOTIVES, [REDACTED] AND SOURCES SHE INTRODUCED AND PROMOTED SIGNIFICANTLY IMPEDED OFFICIAL EFFORTS TO ACCOUNT FOR AMERICANS WHO DID NOT RETURN FROM SOUTHEAST ASIA.

Thai drug traders train Lao partners

Nakhon Phanom — Thai narcotics traffickers have sent experts to Laos to help their Laotian partners in the cultivation of marijuana.

A marijuana trafficker who declined to be identified told a Bangkok Post reporter here that the quality of marijuana planted in Laos, particularly in Ban Hin Boon of Kammuan, had improved markedly because the plants were given fertiliser and well attended to.

"Each grew to a height of three metres," said the man, adding that the marijuana plants are now ready for harvest and he anticipated an influx of marijuana from Laos to Thailand at the end of this month.

Traffickers also supply their Laotian partners with compressing machines to press the marijuana leaves into compact-sized bricks suitable for smuggling across the border and to overseas markets, he said.

The marijuana is normally sold to Thai traders for between 300-500 baht per kilogramme and by the time it reaches Bangkok or Pattaya, the price goes up to 2,000-3,000 baht per kilogramme.

Marijuana cultivation was also reported in Tha Uthen District, Pon Sawan Sub-district, Sri Songkhram and Pla Pak districts.

EGAT warns of low water level in dams

THERE are low water levels in all of the country's hydro-electric dams as the rainy season comes to an end that could cause water shortages for farming and power generation, a source at the Electricity Generating Authority of Thailand warned on November 10.

EGAT has confirmed that the amount of water in the reservoirs this year is below average. It has earlier warned of the necessity to store as much water as possible for use during "difficult times" in the middle of next year when a shortfall of electricity supplies could occur.

Under the circumstances,

Red tape 'stifling plan to develop Northeast'

BUSINESSMEN in the Northeast complained last week over what they said was little progress in projects promised by the government during its Mobile Cabinet meeting in Khon Kaen in April.

They asked that the Government keep the people informed of the projects' development.

The Board of Trade, which held a meeting in Udon Thani Province last weekend, pledged to relay the complaints to the Prime Minister and the Cabinet.

Duangta Thongsophit, Khon Kaen Chamber of Commerce deputy president for tourism, said the projects have not yet been carried out. "Only words have been spoken, nothing much has been done to transform Nam Phong District into an industrial centre. Everything is stuck in bureaucratic regulations while some proposals are still being debated."

The owner of Khon Kaen Hotel, Duangta said there has been no significant improvement of the tourism industry in the Northeast.

"The proposal to set up a dinosaur park in Phu Wiang district has not materialised due to lack of funds."

"Nothing has been done about the cable car project to Phu Kradung in Loei Province because it is a national park.

"If the Government has given the green light to these projects and it does not have the money, it should allow the private sector to invest," she said.

Duangta said unemployment has improved in the last few months because some private companies have invested in projects, such as a rubber glove factory and a canned mushroom factory.

"Thai businessmen are having a difficult time trading with Laos. Some have invested there but cannot make money because Laos does not have much purchasing power," she said.

But she said the Government seemed to be developing water resources in the area, which will significantly benefit the area's agriculture.

Prayun Angsanant, Khon Kaen Chamber of Commerce vice president for administration, said the Mobile Cabinet meeting had motivated the private sector to buy land for industrial development in Nam Phong district.

He said land prices had more than doubled and some people are now unable to buy land.

"Business is booming and there has been increased income distribution."

"There is less unemployment because Khon Kaen's vocational institutes are training people to work in the factories."

"Farmers have also benefited from the rising price of rice but some crops are still cheap."

"The Chamber of Commerce encourages farmers to raise silk worms, grow bamboo and soybeans to earn additional income," he said.

Prayun said that even though a company plans to invest at least 500 million baht in a 300-room hotel in Khon Kaen, the Northeast's tourism industry still needs to be developed, including the dinosaur park in Phu Wiang district and the restoration of Phra Thad Khamkaen.

"More tourists are coming to the Northeast and it is hoped even more will come because of the planned bridge over the Mekong River to Laos."

"Big businessmen now have to slow down their trade with Development Plan.

"The Mobile Cabinet was rather a political or else by now at least something would have been done."

"Anything the Government cannot do, let the private sector do. Bureaucratic regulations which obstruct the implementation of projects should be removed."

"The private sector has been doing a long time already. The government must show more concern," he said.

He pointed out that the government did not understand the purpose of the local Chamber of Commerce.

"We are assigned to do social and charity work though this is not our business," he said.

The Chamber should play a role in formulating a development plan for the region, he said. The Government should know what the needs of the private sector and the public

In addition, she told [REDACTED] that she had the remains of the two servicemen, which were comprised of hip bones and leg bones. She also said both men were shot down while flying over Laos.

The FBI, Philadelphia, reviewed the 1986 edition of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Directory of Names and was unable to locate anyone named "BARKOWSKI" as either "Killed in Action" or "Missing in Action."

However, MATTESON, GLENN, 2nd Lieutenant, U.S. AIR FORCE, DOB January 1, 1938, home of record Dallas, Texas, was recorded in the directory as having been killed on March 23, 1961.

3. (✓) We defer to the FBI's judgement if they wish to independently follow up the approach to their asset. DIA/PW-MIA does not have any specific tasking at this time with regard to this matter. Should the FBI decide to follow up, request you keep us posted concerning any PW/MIA-related aspects of the activity.

4. (✓) Reference b also asked for DIA's assessment of [redacted]'s willingness and aptitude to assist the FBI to follow up this approach [redacted]

a. Reference c. informed [redacted] about the general nature of the correspondence from the Vietnamese couple. [redacted] confirmed he is willing to discuss a possible follow up with the FBI. Our analyst did not discuss with [redacted] the specific nature of the FBI interests. [redacted] can be contacted at his home [redacted]

b. References c. and d. provided a factual basis for assessing [redacted] aptitude to assist the FBI. [redacted] was an Air Force pilot. He was shot down [redacted] over North Vietnam during his second voluntary tour in Southeast Asia. He developed a very effective strategy for resisting Vietnamese interrogation and indoctrination and provided strong leadership within his group of PWs. The officer who debriefed him following his return from captivity in 1973 noted he was an articulate speaker with a keen, analytical, and objective mind. Our analyst who spoke with him recently concurs.

c. [redacted]'s assessment of North Vietnamese indoctrination techniques not only illustrates his insight, but could suggest a factor the SRVIS might consider important if it is selecting former prisoners for exploitation attempts. During his debriefing in 1973, [redacted] noted he was captured late in the war and spent a relatively short period [redacted] in captivity. He noted the North Vietnamese gave him and other "late-comers" relatively good treatment and kept them away from the older PWs. He concluded the Vietnamese anticipated that when the late-comers told their stories after they were released they would become in effect unwitting witnesses for the Vietnamese and offset the impact of Vietnamese crimes against the other PWs. If [redacted] assessment was correct, the SRVIS might believe PWs captured late in the war would harbor less rancor toward them than those captured earlier and, therefore, could be more open to an approach.

5. (✓) One note of caution. The Electronic Weapons System officer aboard [redacted]'s aircraft did not survive. His remains were returned to the U.S. [redacted] His widow is very active in PW/MIA issues. She maintains occasional contact with [redacted]

6. (✓) The following subparagraphs, drawn from references c. and d., address specific points of information [redacted] received from the couple in Vietnam.

a. The claims made by the couple to have known [REDACTED] in Vietnam are false. The apparent source for some of their information would be official records of the People's Army of Vietnam (PAVN). Their story may be an extension of an attempt by [REDACTED]'s captors to exploit him for propaganda during his last day in captivity.

b. The couple accurately reported the date and approximate location of [REDACTED]'s capture and the name, Social Security Account Number (SSAN), blood type, and religion embossed on his dog tags. Conceivably, they could have obtained the date and location of capture from Vietnamese press reports. However, they could obtain the dog tag data only from the dog tags themselves. Since the People's Army of Vietnam (PAVN) officer who captured [REDACTED] immediately stripped him of his dog tags and other personal belongings, except for a dime and two nickels, the only realistic source of the dog tag data would be records maintained by PAVN.

c. According to [REDACTED] neither the couple nor anyone else saved his life--he was never in danger of being killed. [REDACTED] also confirmed to our analyst (reference c) that he never owned a cigarette lighter engraved with either his or his wife's name. He also confirmed that he was never "entertained" while at the "Hanoi Hilton."

d. The fact that the couple in Vietnam described themselves as entertainers could be related in some fashion to an event [REDACTED] experienced on the day he was captured and a sequence of events during his last day in captivity. Immediately after capture his captors marched him to a nearby village. While awaiting transportation to take him to Hanoi he rested in an open-sided shelter that contained a stage and piano; however, he saw no evidence of entertainers. On his last day in captivity the Vietnamese attempted to stage a meeting between him and a girl who they said had captured him. They brought the girl and a host of newsmen to [REDACTED]'s cell that morning and, with a motion picture cameraman filming the event, tried in vain to get him to talk to her. [REDACTED] kept his back to the girl and the cameraman, shielded his face with his hands, and replied with soft verbal nos or negative nods of the head. When he denied a girl captured him, the Vietnamese changed their story. Each time he denied the validity of a story, the Vietnamese proposed a new story--perhaps 5-6 before they gave up. For example, at one point they said the girl gave him fruit after he was captured; [REDACTED] said no, a small boy gave him some fruit. At another point, making a motion as though they were carrying a stretcher, they said she was there when he was put on a board or stretcher; [REDACTED] said he was never put on a board or stretcher. In another variation they said she rode with him in the truck to Hanoi; he said there was no girl in the truck. The Vietnamese finally gave up this effort at the prison camp; but did not give up altogether. Just after his release to U.S. authorities at Gia

Lam Airfield the same girl and cameraman ran out of the crowd and she pointed her finger at [REDACTED]'s face and yelled at him in Vietnamese as the cameraman captured it on film.
